OVERVIEW: The 2-day Solid Waste Association of North America (SWANA) symposium can assist decision makers with improving and maintaining efficient waste management operations. Whether it is checking out the latest equipment, reviewing funding opportunities, networking with other waste management professionals, catching up on SWANA CEUs, touring facilities, or investigating new systems, the SWANA symposium will assist in optimizing your public or private waste management operations. Ten SWANA CEUs are available.

AUDIENCE: Primary audience - solid waste managers and facility operators, city managers, local decision makers, elected officials, county commissioners, public works directors, engineering firms, equipment dealers, consultants, contractors, health department officials, and economic developers. The symposium is open to the public

WHY ATTEND: Ten SWANA CEUs are available. To keep up to date on latest operation and maintenance topics, to obtain information on funding opportunities and agency service available, to interact with other waste management professionals and share experiences and information about optimizing systems and successful programs.

EXHIBITS - INSIDE AND OUTDOOR: Several programs, agencies, and vendors will have displays of their programs, services, or products in an indoor venue as well as outdoor venue. Outdoor exhibit equipment must have rubber tires. Limited space is available, so space will be assigned on a first come, first serve basis. Time in the program will be allocated exclusively for display visits. There is $100 charge for the exhibit space.

ADDITIONAL TRAINING OPPORTUNITY: Transfer Station Certification Course will be held Tuesday, Feb. 23 - Friday Feb. 26, 2010 in conjunction with this year's symposium. Deadline for registration is January 30, 2010.
